GOOD OLD SUMMER

What is the best season of the year? Summer, to most people, though the other seasons, especially spring, have their charms. And the older you get, the more you like summer, the more you will dread winter.

Spring corresponds to our health and our spirits. It is the springing season, full of hope, dreams, uncertainty, danger of frost.

Summer is like the waning years of our life, when we harvest as we have sown, when we suffer for our negligence and mistakes and are rewarded for our effort. Most of us when we look backward in the autumn of life, say: "If I only had my life to live over again."

Winter, of course, corresponds to human death, the liberating of old growth until new growth is able to sprout and bud.

All three of these seasons are preparatory to the autumn of summer. And summer is the period of life of accomplishment, the symbolic of the lives we are living. Lucky are you who have survived the frosts of life's springtime. Your crop of success is started. Toil and weep, for autumn of life will be upon you before you are aware. For summer, it is now or never.

CONQUERING NATURE

Since man's beginning he has waged an unceasing battle to subdue nature to his will and with. Though the battle has now waged for thousands of years nature is still the master of man.

Victory is not yet in sight for man but his advance, though slow, is unceasing. Nature may never be entirely under the control of man, who is actually a part of nature, but many elements are being subdued one by one.

The human race's greatest struggle with nature has been the prolongation of human life, a thing over which nature for ages held complete and unassailable sway. Science, medicine, education and sanitation as conceived by the genius of the human mind, are successfully driving back the forces of nature toward the lengthening of the average span of life. On the basis of the progress made in the past three decades toward the prolongation of human life we can hope to have an average life span of three-quarters of a century within the next 50 years.

The automobile, the railroad, the airplane, the telegraph and the radio are exemplifications of man's conquest of nature. Astronomy and archaeology—man's sciences—have brought within his ken the universe and the earth.

Anything man can think of he can do if he works it long enough. We have sublimated the plague and devastating epidemic of our century.

history and we shall abolish the diseases which take their toll of human life today. Nature is being brought to man's heel and is making man greater for the struggle. When the time comes— it is already—when man no longer has to struggle for supremacy the decay of the human mind will be swift and sure.
